Name	Job title / job description and place of business
Contact details

The notification was made by a private individual who forbids that information about the complainant be given to those who are involved in the case. The request does not automatically guarantee that the identity will not be revealed to the parties. In principle, a person has the right to information about themselves, but the right can be limited, e.g. if the child's interest or the notifier's safety could be jeopardized (Act on the Openness of Government Activities Sections 11 and 12)

Reason:

The notifier is a private individual, who does not state his/her identity
